This book was designed to help you (a light dep grower) become better at what you do. The focus of this book is simple, how to avoid the many pitfalls all growers face (especially light dep growers) and how to deal with those problems when they inevitably arise. I also chose to focus on helping you to develop systems so that you can have consistent and repeatable results (which all growers want!). There are no case studies in this book, just good ol fashioned knowledge earned the hard way, which I am sharing with you.

About the Author James Defenbaugh is a good ol' Humboldt County boy. He lives smack dab in the middle of California's Emerald Triangle. With a lifetime spent working out in the hills and a Bachelor of Science in Environmental Resources Engineering James' mission is to provide knowledge products to help growers take their gardens to the next level. In 2015 James founded Humboldt Light Dep Company to develop affordable light dep greenhouses retrofit kits.
