Most anyone from a small town who knows the local doctor knows he has the stories to tell! Your job is to be the one he likes...not the one he can tells stories about! He keeps their identity hidden but, if you know the locals...you recognize the folks...by the description. He's funny, serious and just the greatest story teller ever! The rural American landscape is fading like old lumber on the side of a barn, victim of urban sprawl and modernization. But the vision of this landscape, of its color and smells, is vivid and alive in the pens and brushes of Ferrol Sams and Jim Harrison. 60 full-color paintings, 12 illustrations.
