Suitable for novice or advanced tube fabricators, this guide covers the fundamentals and guidelines for tube fabrication, pipe fabrication, and many other areas. It also addresses management concerns, such as determining appropriate tools and equipment, weighing cost and quality, and knowing the choices available.

About the Author Greg Miller is currently president and CEO of Tubular Solutions in Medina, Ohio, where he takes an active role in all company operations and sales activities. He has written multiple articles for various trade publications over the last 10 years. As a speaker, Miller has participated in tube fabrication seminars throughout the U.S. In addition, he has served for three years as chairperson of the Small Diameter Tube Conference sponsored by the Society of Manufacturing Engineers.
