E. M. Thynge published awhile back and material shows it. Was looking for something that would help towards identifying plants in New England and survival type training at scout level. Really wasn't helpful.

Marjorie Furlong and Virginia Pill two business women, shared a love of going out 'berrying' and taking pictures for relaxation and fun. Useful throughout the U.S. and Canada, this book contains full-color photographs and detailed descriptions for 42 wild edible fruits and berries. Locations are given and conservation principles encouraged. A recipe section adds to the book's utility.
