Anthony Kosich Jr. : Your New Furniture Delivery Is Postponed: We Are Out Of Business before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Your New Furniture Delivery Is Postponed: We Are Out Of Business:

This is my experience from growing up in a close held family furniture store where every customer was important and helping one another in making the family business more successful. Later, after working for different furniture chains, I discovered how the other guy, (the furniture chains), treated their customers and employees, especially the sales people. I often wondered why they didn't go bankrupt sooner. As a salesperson, trying to do what was right by the customer while making a sale where only the company agenda mattered.
